

CU Accelerate Faculty Profile
Lindsay Johnson, M.A.

Adjunct Professor

Contact Information

1-406-690-1851

Lindsay.Johnson@cui.edu

Profile

Lindsay Johnson has taught English and Literature courses at both the secondary and college level. While completing her undergraduate degree, Lindsay taught writing in ESL high school classrooms for four years, and continues to tutor ESL students today. After college, Lindsay accepted teaching assignments in both Chile and France, where she taught high school students in American Literature and writing.

While completing her graduate degree, Lindsay taught American, British, and World Literature courses to college freshmen. After getting married and relocating to Mission Viejo, CA, she taught English and composition courses at Saddleback College. Lindsay has a passion for writing and editing, hiking, volunteering, and going to the beach. She was recently blessed with her first child, Bonnie Ann.

Education

M.A.	Comparative Literature	University of Texas, Austin	2007, Magna Cum Laude
B.A.	Comparative Literature and Spanish	University of Oregon, Eugene	2004, Magna Cum Laude

Professional / Scholarly Presentations

Saddleback College Research and Writing Seminar (2007)

Texas Comparative Literature Conference, Austin, TX (2006)

Abriendo Brecha Latin American Conference, University of Texas (2005 and 2006)

Annual College English Association Conference, San Antonio (2006)

Annual Conference for Graduate Students of Comparative Literature, University of Texas (2005)

Professional Involvement

College English Association

Step Up to Writing Mentor

University of Texas Comparative Literature on-line newsletter Editor (2006-2007)

Graduate Student Conference Organizer, University of Texas (2005-2007)

Creative Arts Journal Editor, University of Oregon (2001-2003)

Expertise

- Academic Writing
- Research Techniques
- Academic Integrity